Hello,

Move United is committed to improving the safety of athletes and participants involved in the community we serve. By providing an environment that is free of misconduct, our athletes can more effectively enjoy the numerous benefits of an active lifestyle through sport and recreation

In the fall of 2019, Move United implemented a Sport Protection Policy that relates specifically to Move United activities. The following year, it became a requirement that all member organizations have their own written and publicly available Sport Protection Policy.

Over the past several months, Move United has thoroughly reviewed these policies to align with recent updates made by the U.S. Center for SafeSport. This has resulted in revisions to the Move United Sport Protection Handbook. Corresponding updates have also been made to the member organization template, which members can utilize to update their policy more easily. In addition, we have comprised the attached document that highlights the changes.

As part of your organization's responsibility as a member with Move United, you will need to update your policies and submit them for review by September 30th, 2025. Please submit these policies and provide the additional information here: <https://moveunitedsport.org/member-organization-sport-protection-policy-submission/>.

We recognize that updates to these policies may take time. Move United staff is also available to answer questions and offer support during this process.

Thank you for the dedication your member organization has shown to providing an environment free from misconduct and abuse. If you have questions, please do not hesitate to reach out.

Regards,

Ryan
